A Marvellous Diary

We were in an explorer's shoes !

With our french teacher, we created a travel diary about the great discoveries of the end of the Middle Age. It was interesting and complicated to do that because we had to invent a great story, to draw well, to have a pretty diary and obviously to be documented and to have reliable information.

Wimp !

An unplanned fall.

It all started the last day of a swimming course, at school. On that particular day, we were allowed to dive from the three meters height diving board. Once arrived on the diving board edge, of course I hesitated to throw myself in the water, but finally, I decided to do so and... I jumped. When I found myself in the void, my body rocked and I made a flat jump to get into the water. When I realized what happened, my whole body was painful and I felt miserable.

Sophie et Victoire

It was Thursday 17th May, my birthday's day. I went to school like everyday and suddently my friend Andrea gives me a cake.
-Happy birthday Anna !
At mideday my friends and I go to the self. Kindly, some teachers let us pass first. It was great cause I could blow candies. I will never forget that day.

Enigmas Project

And this is a surprise for our classmate

In helping lessons we don't work, we play. When the teacher arrives in the classroom, we hide under tables. After that, we prepare a game for our classmate. We make some enigmas, laughing at the same time. We will show to the class Friday 22nd June.

Teachers are amazing

They remember everything...everything...Some teachers offer Kit-Kats, schoko-bons, smurfs...for birthday or christmas, but the question is: How do they remember? So...guess...come on...we're waiting... Yes, that's it! thanks to "Ecole Direct"
